A Meteoric Display.

In the year 1833 there was observed in various parts of the world, a meteoric display of surpassing brilliancy, and many were the conjectures regarding its cause. Astronomers gave the matter much attention and soon predicted that in 1866 there would be a similar display. These predictions were fulfilled on November 13, 1866 when the meteors again appeared; and, especially in the constellation Leo, the fall of these bright bodies was estimated to be 100,000 an hour for five or six consecutive hours. At that time it was known that these meteors pursued an orbit similar to that of the earth.

Why these so-called "shooting stars" are in existence we can only guess, but the idea advanced by astronomers is that there was at one time another planet in existence. Whether this planet was destroyed by combustion or whether the matter forming this celestial body did not readily form a solid mass, is not known; the only fact remaining is the existence of the debris of the planet, yet traveling its accustomed orbit. The only time these are visible to our own planet is when the Leonids (a name given to them by scientific men) and the earth meet where the orbits of the two intersect each other. The date of this meeting never varies more than two days, generally appearing on November 13th of every 33d year. Three of these showers have occurred during the 19th century. Since November 12th, 1866 there have been some five hundred of these meteors placed in private and public collections.

The next display will occur between the 10th and 16th of this month, and will equal if not surpass the showers of '33 or '66. The sight will be interesting and instructive and should be observed by all.

Chamberlain's Pain Balm Cures Others, Why Not You?
My wife has been using Chamberlain's Pain Balm, with good results, for a lame shoulder that has pained her continually for nine years. We have tried all kinds of medicines and doctors without receiving any benefit from any of them. One day we saw an advertisement of this medicine and thought of trying it, which we did with the best of satisfaction. She has used only one bottle and her shoulder is almost well.

Used by British Soldiers in Africa.
Cap. C. G. Dennison is well known all over Africa as commander of the forces that captured the famous rebel Galshe. Under date of Nov. 4, 1897, from Vryburg, Bechuanaland, he writes: "Before starting on the last campaign I bought a quantity of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I used myself when troubled with bowel complaint, and had given to my men, and in every case it proved most beneficial." For sale by Staley & McKeith.

OBITUARY.

Last Sunday the sad news was spread that Lillian Springer was dead, having passed peacefully to the beyond during the previous night. For many months the deceased had been in failing health and her death was not unexpected by the many friends who have been her companions for years. Miss Springer was born in Port Huron in March, 1878, and was past 21 years old at the time of her death. About 12 years ago she came to reside in Yale, and has made many warm friends, especially among the young people of this community. The remains were taken to Burville, Ont., Tuesday for interment. The loved form was escorted to the train by the Lady Macabees, and these were accompanied by a host of others who feel deeply the loss by death, and have a heart-felt sympathy for the sorrowing relatives. A beautiful and profuse tribute of flowers was provided by the order and other friends.
